

Work-life balance. Amazing career choices. Regina has it all.

Regina knows what it's like to have a full life. She works at one of the largest financial institutions in the world. Yet she still has time for family and friends.

At today's IRS, we're committed to helping everyone within our organization achieve the proper balance between work and life. Now, factor in our diverse culture, training, career opportunities and outstanding benefits, and you'll see why we're the employer of choice for talented professionals like Regina. And, hopefully, for you — especially in one of the following positions.

Revenue Agents work on-site with taxpayers, large corporations, small businesses, government entities, certified public accountants and attorneys to conduct tax examinations.

Revenue Officers are involved in cases requiring tax research, interviews and investigations, analysis of financial statements and other important responsibilities.

Criminal Investigation Special Agents protect the integrity of America's tax system by following the movement of money to determine and provide proof of criminal activity.

If you're ready to step up to a career with an employer who truly realizes the meaning of success, then visit our website at www.jobs.irs.gov/bcm.

Department of the Treasury
Internal Revenue Service

www.irs.gov

It all adds up.

U.S. Citizenship Required | An Equal Opportunity Employer.

www.jobs.irs.gov/bcm