

Where Leaders Go To Work. U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement.

A changing world brings new challenges to our nation's security. You can help meet these challenges through a career at U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE).

ICE is the largest investigative arm of the Department of Homeland Security, charged with protecting national security and upholding public safety by targeting the people, money and materials that support terrorist and criminal activities.

ICE is always looking for diverse and motivated students and recent graduates for challenging, action-oriented careers that offer unique opportunities to integrate classroom theory with the real world. Because of the nature of our work, opportunities require dedicated, team-oriented candidates who can adapt easily to changing circumstances and have strong analytical and communication skills.

As a member of the ICE team, your experience and leadership will be applied to financial and trade investigations; cyber crimes; project analyses and management; litigating removal cases in immigration court; working with foreign authorities in our 54 international attaché offices; intelligence gathering; investigations into arms and strategic technology transfer; human trafficking and child exploitation; and various other roles that support our law enforcement mission.

Regardless of the role you play, you can make a positive impact on the security of your country.

For more information on ICE careers, visit our website at www.ice.gov/careers

U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement

U.S. citizenship is required. The Department of Homeland Security is an equal opportunity employer.

www.ice.gov/careers