Space for your future.

Aerospace generated this concept design for a two-stage-to-orbit reusable launch vehicle as part of a series of vehicle evaluation studies.

America has always led the way to new frontiers of science, freedom, and opportunity. Now it's your time to rise to the occasion as we aspire to walk on other worlds, and reap the benefits of space exploration.

No other company has the breadth of technical knowledge and experience in space systems or the depth of talent in such a broad array of scientific and engineering disciplines as The Aerospace Corporation. We have the flexibility to focus very specialized expertise on uncommon technical challenges and solve unsolvable problems. Ideal candidates for an abundance of exciting challenges will have an MS or PhD degree in science or engineering. Appointments subject to a security investigation and eligibility for access to classified information.
